Abrasive Blasting Suit – APH BS1

1.0 Introduction

1.1 The Hodge Clemco Abrasive Blasting suit has been specifically designed for blast cleaning operative protection and comfort. The suit satisfies the requirements of EN 340 and should be used with Hodge Clemco approved blasting equipment. The above approval applies only when the abrasive blasting suit is used complete, without modification, change or substitution.

1.2 The Suit provides the user with protection against ricochet impact of particles produced by the blasting operation. High wear areas at the front of the suit have a thick leather material to absorb the impact of the particles.

2.0 Instructions

2.1 Check the Abrasive Blasting Suit labelling to ensure that the suit is of the correct size for the operator.

2.2 Inspect the suit for any damage or faults with its structure which may have occurred during transit. The suit is designed to be used in conjunction with Hodge Clemco Blasting Helmets, Respiratory Systems and other Personal Protective Equipment.

2.3 Ensure that all fastenings are secure before commencing any blasting operations.

2.5 Check the suit at regular intervals for any cuts, holes or deformations which may have developed during the abrasive blasting process.

3.0 Cleaning and Storage

The Abrasive Blasting Suit comprises

- Soft buff split leather (Green/Grey).
- Heavy duty 100% cotton drill (Red).

3.1 The Suit is to be washed only, consult your local cleaner for details on cleaning and care for your blasting suit.

3.2 For storage, the suit must be dry and stored in a cool and ventilated place away from direct sunlight.

4.0 Size and Dimensions
